

Virtual Public Meetings about Whipps Cross Redevelopment Programme

Whipps Cross Hospital is hosting three virtual public meetings in October and November in partnership with the local boroughs to present updates on its redevelopment programme, to answer questions and to hear people's views, which will help further shape the plans.

Hospital spokespeople will be joined on the panel by leaders from other organisations, including local councils, commissioning groups and the wider east London health system, who are working in partnership with the Trust on plans to redevelop the hospital and the land on which it sits.

In September 2020, Barts NHS Trust Health published 'Building a Brighter Future for Whipps Cross – Moving to the next stage', which offers a summary of the vision for the new Whipps Cross Hospital. The plans set out in the document, which will be tested more thoroughly in the next, more detailed planning phase, include initial ideas about the scope and size of a new hospital and plans to improve health and care services for the local population.

The views of patients and the public on these assumptions will be taken into account when developing the outline business case for redevelopment of Whipps Cross. Last year, the Trust undertook a programme of community and staff engagement involving a broad cross section of people from both groups. The next phase of engagement will build on that work to support more staff and more of the community to stay well informed about the progress of the redevelopment as well as provide an opportunity to get involved in testing and informing ideas.

In addition to the public meetings Barts Health has established working groups and focus groups to inform its thinking in key areas such as: health and care services, hospital design and site masterplan. They also plan to design and establish a new community forum for the Whipps Cross redevelopment in the autumn

Alastair Finney, Redevelopment Director, said, "We are at an exciting stage of the redevelopment, where we are able to test our assumptions and work up detailed plans to determine how we can move from aspiration to the completion of a new Whipps Cross Hospital. Engagement with patients, our staff and the public is critical to ensuring we develop a new hospital and wider site that is fit for the local community ."

The public meetings will take place across the three local boroughs and will be streamed live via YouTube:

Waltham Forest
15 October, 6:30-8:30pm

Redbridge
29 October, 6:30-8:30pm

Epping Forest District
12 November 6:30-8:30pm

Tickets are available from Eventbrite.[\[details here\]](#)

For more information, please contact Futurewhipps.bartshealth@nhs.net or see www.bartshealth.nhs.uk/future-whipps

Press release - WF

Virtual Public Meeting about Whipps Cross Redevelopment Programme, 15 October

Whipps Cross Hospital is hosting a virtual public meeting with the local council to present updates on its redevelopment programme, to answer questions and to hear people's views, which will help further shape the plans.

Hospital spokespeople will be joined on the panel by leaders from other organisations, including Waltham Forest Council, WEL clinical commissioning group and the wider east London health system, who are working in partnership with the Trust on plans to redevelop the hospital and the land on which it sits.

In September 2020, Barts NHS Trust Health published 'Building a Brighter Future for Whipps Cross – Moving to the next stage', which offers a summary of the vision for the new Whipps Cross Hospital. The plans set out in the document, which will be tested more thoroughly in the next, more detailed planning phase, include initial ideas about the scope and size of a new hospital and plans to improve health and care services for the local population.

The views of patients and the public on these assumptions will be taken into account when developing the outline business case for redevelopment of Whipps Cross. Last year, the Trust undertook a programme of community and staff engagement involving a broad cross section of people from both groups. The next phase of engagement will build on that work to support more staff and more of the community to stay well informed about the progress of the redevelopment as well as provide an opportunity to get involved in testing and informing ideas.

In addition to the public meetings Barts Health has established working groups and focus groups to inform its thinking in key areas such as: health and care services, hospital design and site masterplan. They also plan to design and establish a new community forum for the Whipps Cross redevelopment in the autumn.

Alastair Finney, Redevelopment Director, said, "We are at an exciting stage of the redevelopment, where we are able to test our assumptions and work up detailed plans to determine how we can move from aspiration to the completion of a new Whipps Cross Hospital. Engagement with patients, our staff and the public is critical to ensuring we develop a new hospital and wider site that is fit for the local community .

The public meeting will take place on Thursday 15 October from 6:30pm-8:30pm and will be streamed live via YouTube.

Tickets are available from Eventbrite.[details here]

For more information, please contact Futurewhipps.bartshealth@nhs.net or see www.bartshealth.nhs.uk/future-whipps

Press release - Redbridge

Virtual Public Meeting about Whipps Cross Redevelopment Programme, 29 October

Whipps Cross Hospital is hosting a virtual public meeting with the local council to present updates on its redevelopment programme, to answer questions and to hear people's views, which will help further shape the plans.

Hospital spokespeople will be joined on the panel by leaders from other organisations, including Redbridge Council, BHR clinical commissioning group and the wider east London health system, who are working in partnership with the Trust on plans to redevelop the hospital and the land on which it sits.

In September 2020, Barts NHS Trust Health published 'Building a Brighter Future for Whipps Cross – Moving to the next stage', which offers a summary of the vision for the new Whipps Cross Hospital. The plans set out in the document, which will be tested more thoroughly in the next, more detailed planning phase, include initial ideas about the scope and size of a new hospital and plans to improve health and care services for the local population.

The views of patients and the public on these assumptions will be taken into account when developing the outline business case for redevelopment of Whipps Cross. Last year, the Trust undertook a programme of community and staff engagement involving a broad cross section of people from both groups. The next phase of engagement will build on that work to support more staff and more of the community to stay well informed about the progress of the redevelopment as well as provide an opportunity to get involved in testing and informing ideas.

In addition to the public meetings Barts Health has established working groups and focus groups to inform its thinking in key areas such as: health and care services, hospital design and site masterplan. They also plan to design and establish a new community forum for the Whipps Cross redevelopment in the autumn

Alastair Finney, Redevelopment Director, said, "We are at an exciting stage of the redevelopment, where we are able to test our assumptions and work up detailed plans to determine how we can move from aspiration to the completion of a new Whipps Cross Hospital. Engagement with patients, our staff and the public is critical to ensuring we develop a new hospital and wider site that is fit for the local community .

The public meeting will take place on Thursday 29 October at Leytonstone School from 6:30pm-8:30pm and will be streamed live via YouTube.

Tickets are available from Eventbrite.[details here]

For more information, please contact Futurewhipps.bartshealth@nhs.net or see www.bartshealth.nhs.uk/future-whipps

Press release – Epping Forest District

Virtual Public Meeting about Whipps Cross Redevelopment Programme, 12 November

Whipps Cross Hospital is hosting a virtual public meeting with the local council to present updates on its redevelopment programme, to answer questions and to hear people's views, which will help further shape the plans.

Hospital spokespeople will be joined on the panel by leaders from other organisations, including Epping Forest District Council, West Essex clinical commissioning group and the wider east London health system, who are working in partnership with the Trust on plans to redevelop the hospital and the land on which it sits.

In September 2020, Barts NHS Trust Health published 'Building a Brighter Future for Whipps Cross – Moving to the next stage', which offers a summary of the vision for the new Whipps Cross Hospital. The plans set out in the document, which will be tested more thoroughly in the next, more detailed planning phase, include initial ideas about the scope and size of a new hospital and plans to improve health and care services for the local population.

The views of patients and the public on these assumptions will be taken into account when developing the outline business case for redevelopment of Whipps Cross. Last year, the Trust undertook a programme of community and staff engagement involving a broad cross section of people from both groups. The next phase of engagement will build on that work to support more staff and more of the community to stay well informed about the progress of the redevelopment as well as provide an opportunity to get involved in testing and informing ideas.

In addition to the public meetings Barts Health has established working groups and focus groups to inform its thinking in key areas such as: health and care services, hospital design and site masterplan. They also plan to design and establish a new community forum for the Whipps Cross redevelopment in the autumn

Alastair Finney, Redevelopment Director, said, "We are at an exciting stage of the redevelopment, where we are able to test our assumptions and work up detailed plans to determine how we can move from aspiration to the completion of a new Whipps Cross Hospital. Engagement with patients, our staff and the public is critical to ensuring we develop a new hospital and wider site that is fit for the local community .

The public meeting will take place on Thursday 12 November at Leytonstone School from 6:30pm-8:30pm and will be streamed live via YouTube.

Tickets are available from Eventbrite.[details here]

For more information, please contact Futurewhipps.bartshealth@nhs.net or see www.bartshealth.nhs.uk/future-whipps